Change in your perspective and attitude towards your work leads to change in the way you choose to see God as your boss. What is one thing you think would improve your work environment? How many of the things that are frustrating you at work right now would you be willing to change if they led to a better working environment?

Christ is an ambassador in your workplace. In 2 Corinthians 5:20, we are told, “...we are Christ’s ambassadors.” How can an ambassador do this when their interests are not the same?

This week, think of one person you know who could use some encouragement in their work. What do you think this will be?

Some practical ways you can turn your work into an act of worship are: Pray before you begin; listen for the Holy Spirit’s guidance in your workplace; and, if something goes wrong, look at it as an opportunity to grow.

Pick at least one or two.

Now talk to God...
Even by God and every ability can be used for God's glory.

Why did God give you the ability to create wealth? Is not just for personal gain

God has given you the ability to help people. The ability to provide for the needs of others. By making others righteous and moral. And by providing a place for people to grow in their relationship with God. By giving them food, shelter, clothing, and more. By using the wealth you have received to help others.

The ability to make money is to be used for God's glory. If you have a role in business, you should use it to make money for God's glory. If you have a role in financial management, you should use it to make money for God's glory.

The ability to produce wealth is an ability to use for God's glory. You should use it to produce wealth for God's glory. If you have the ability to produce wealth, you should use it to produce wealth for God's glory.

But remember, Lord your God, for it is he who gives you the ability to produce wealth.
